

Digital Product Disclaimer

You acknowledge that by purchasing, downloading and using this digital product (Product) from The Ardent VA (we, us our our) via our online shop or website, you are agreeing in full to this disclaimer.

Use of Product

After you purchase the Product you will be provided with access to the Product. At our discretion we may specify a limited access time (such as 24 or 48 hours).

Upon purchase, we grant you a single use non-exclusive, royalty-free, revocable license to use this Product personally or in your business. However, this Product may not be copied, given to a third party, reproduced, transmitted electronically or otherwise used in any way in whole or in part for the purpose of commercial gain by you for any purpose that may amount to competition with us in any way.

You may use the Product for your personal and/ or business use. Where permitted or intended (such as by the use of a template or checklist) you may modify the language contained in the Product or add your details. However, we can't guarantee any modification will maintain the integrity or original intention of the Product or result in the outcome being the intended use of the Product.

We do not require you to credit us for your use of the Product on your social media or website.

Refund policy

While we honour the Australian Consumer Law and will refund or exchange faulty goods or services such as where you cannot access the Product and can prove that you have been unable to access it, due to the nature of the Product being immediately accessible to you upon purchase, no refunds or fees paid by you will be permitted for change of mind.

Intellectual Property

We retain all ownership of the copyright of the Product in its original form downloaded by you and if we see you have shared our Product with a third party or used it for commercial use rather than personal or business use, we reserve the right to claim compensation for such unauthorised use.

Liability

While we use reasonable commercial endeavours to ensure that the Product is accurate and fit for download by you, we do not take any responsibility whatsoever for the suitability of the Product for your intended purpose. Further, we do not provide a warranty as to the fitness of the Product. You agree to indemnify us against all liabilities, claims, demands, damages, actions or loss arising out of your breach of this disclaimer and your use of the Product, noting we shall not be liable for any consequential, indirect or direct loss of profits, business or other damages that arise as a result of your use of the Product, regardless of whether such loss could have been foreseen.

Release & expectations

We do not make any guarantee as to the suitability of this Product and in purchasing this Product you acknowledge that you understand that this Product may produce different results for different people and that the Product is intended for a mass audience and not you or your business personally. In proceeding with the purchase of this Product we do not guarantee any expected result or outcome.